Per C.A. S. S. Manuka, from Vancouver, June 24.—For Honolo'us Mrs. W. D. Sloggett and children, Mrs. R. O. Matheson and two children, Mrs. Schoenberger, Rose Albinu, J. E. Millar, Mr. and Mrs. S. When Mrs. Sweenerion, Mr. and Mrs. Shoenman, according to a prediction of Supervisor James Quinn yesterday.

The last appropriation bill that went into history about a week ago shows, in the estimation of Quinn, a decided lack of business ability on the part of the board. This discovery led to the prediction that the city will be fundless during the list two months that the present board of supervisors is in office. When this board went in it had a substantial balance to commence work on, but evidently does not desire to extend the blessing to its successors, and at a board meeting not so long ago, where this matter came up, one of the solons arose and stated that he didn't see why they had to leave their successors any money, anyway.

The lost the production of the board of supervisors is in office. When this board went in it had a substantial balance to commence work on, but evidently does not desire to extend the blessing to its successors, and at a board meeting not so long ago, where this matter came up, one of the solons arose and stated that he didn't see why they had to leave their successors are suppled to the part of the country of the countr money, anyway.

The board is peculiarly divided on mency matters. When a contract comes up from the road committee to pave for street, the other members say that the city has no money; Quinn says that the county has no money to build sidewalks around the property that Campbell has ordered the board to improve. Hazel Hall, Miss Christina Harper, B. There are other shortages when other matters come up, and the city treasury the control of the county has no money to build sidewalks around the property that Campbell has ordered the board to improve. Hazel Hall, Miss Christina Harper, B. There are other shortages when other matters come up, and the city treasury theoriek was Jeanie Hill. T. R. Hinek-There are other shortages when other matters come up, and the city treasury fluctuates handsomely at the wish of any individual member, and none could say for the life of him just how much money the board has got or will get.

There was a hard fight over the last appropriation bill, despite the outwardly peaceful circumstances that wafted it into being. Quinn protested against the passing of the $1800 for the automobile for the fire department, but Chief Thurston stepped to the front and ripped the board up the back, with the result that the item went through.

result that the item went through.

"These subordinates are getting too cocky," said Quinn yesterday. "The insurance underwriters should have given the chief the machine, any way."

However, says Quinn, the city will have no cash during the last two months of the present administration, on account of the extravagance everywhere. Louise Smith, Miss Mary Smith, Miss M. With these statements was published one by Ahia, denying that anyone had ever tried to bbribe him and stating that he had never heard of any bribery up to that time, his last statement be ments of Gilman and of Supervisor

In fact there was a considerable divergence, to say the least, between the various statements.

It appears now that there was about the same divergence In the evidence given before the grand jury, with the result that the jurymen decided that the matter deserved attention. It is reported now that the attention given has convinced the jugymen that some one has been knowingly lying and that that someone is a member of the board at present controlling the destinies of the City of Honolulu.

The curious part of the affair is that the one who is alleged to have been lying had no apparent motive for telling anything but the truth. The truth would have presented him is a better light than the lies he is supposed to have invented to shield himroff.

In addition to the four large reservoirs now in process of construction near Lawal, says the Garden Island, in the Wahiawa mountains at an elevapounded in a tributary ravine. The embankment will be sluiced in with the water thus led out, and will be about 35 feet high. In addition to its storage value for irrigation purposes, this reservoir will conserve water for the development of electric power, Some distance below there is an ideal site for a power plant, with a drop of 600 feet. It is proposed to use this ultimately as an alternative to the Wainiha plant, especially for use during any temporary shut down of the latter.

SHOWER OF TEARS -DISSOLVES ANGER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. - Two daughters of the late Charles H. Gilman, McBryde will put in another large one father of Mrs. Maybelle Gilman Corey, the actress who married the president ing in direct contradiction of the state- tion of about 2000 feet. By a series of the steel trust, engaged in a spirited of tunnels aggregating about half a dispute in Judge Troutt's court yestermile in length the water will be led day concerning the issuance of letters out of the Wahiawa stream and im- of administration over the estate of their father. After the court hearing, however, their differences were apparently dissolved in a shower of tears.

> Both Mrs. Ruby Gilman Hagerdon and Mrs. Pearl Gilman Alisky demanded appointment as administratrix of the estate. Judge Troutt intimated that he probably would appoint the former, and the sisters subsequently agreed that they would join in asking the judge to follow that course.

Gilman's estate is of little value, and PRACTICALLY SOLD OUT.
